Château de la Messardière presents what's new for the launch of the 2014 season

The prestigious Saint Tropez hotel reopened for the 2014 season on 16 April. This little patch of paradise between the famous Place des Lices in Saint-Tropez, the beaches of Pampelonne and the vineyards of Ramatuelle offers another season brimming with new experiences and discoveries: a new setting for the restaurant, new treatments at the spa and an exciting new cultural season!

For many years the château, perching atop a hill like a jewel in the crown of Saint-Tropez village, has been a gathering place for people who love the bright, peaceful atmosphere that imbues these historic walls. A luxury hotel since 2012, this Saint Tropez must has 55 suites and 62 guestrooms, each with a terrace or private garden offering breathtaking views.

The restaurant: a breath of fresh air

This is the second season chef David Millet has been in charge of the château's gourmet restaurant, which was renovated and renamed "L'Acacia" this year. He is offering a new menu, "Mimosa: a Scent of Provence", to mark the occasion. The young chef enjoys working with local products to make their flavours burst out, and prepares sunny, authentic, colourful cuisine that is a perfect match for the château's charm. The Bar du Château, refurbished in shimmering colours, and its team will be delighted to welcome you for a before-dinner drink.

The Spa: new treatments

This year the château's 465m² spa, a veritable oasis of peace dedicated to wellness, joins the V35 Club, the elite of the Valmont brand's spas. To celebrate the event, the spa is opening up the doors of its hairdressing salon to Valmont and integrating its hair ageing expertise as an exclusive service.

The artistic and literary season

- 16 April to 16 June: the Assaga exhibition (the association of painters and photographers from La Garde Freinet).
- 18 June to 26 August: the "You & Me" exhibition, a dialogue between artist Virginie Lhomme Fontaine and her companion Jean-Philippe Richard, who is no stranger to the château's guests: the grounds hosted his "Sculpture Garden" show in 2013.
- 23 to 25 May: the fourth Messardière Summer Novel Prize, sponsored by Michel Legrand this year.
